

Handwritten Sogdian script on a fragment of aged, yellowed paper. The text is arranged in approximately 39 horizontal lines, though many are partially obscured by a large, irregular tear running vertically down the center of the page. The script is a cursive form of the Sogdian language, used for religious texts like sutras. The paper shows signs of significant wear, including discoloration and physical damage.

15. SI Kr. IV/879. Sogdian manuscript of an unidentified sutra.

15. SI Kr. IV/879. 未比定のソグド語経典の写本. サイズ: 29×52.2 cm.

39行. 8-10世紀の書写. 紙本, 巻本.